ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE
OF THE
TOWN OF SHARON,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL, 1876.

---

BOSTON:
WILLIAM BENSE, PRINTER, 35 CONGRESS STREET,
1876.

GENERAL REPORT.

---

IN presenting again the annual report of the schools in town, your committee would acknowledge with thoughtful and grateful remembrance the goodness of that kind Providence whose benignant eye has kindly watched over our schools during the events of the past year.

ORGANIZATION.

The committee met for organization April 6, 1875. John M. Bullard was chosen chairman, Sanford Waters Billings, secretary and treasurer. The plan of supervision of schools adopted last year again met the approval of the committee and received their sanction.

SCHOOLS.

Six schools have been continued during a school year of nine months. This is the same number that have been sustained for several years, except at the time of the Intermediate School two years ago. The numbers in school have not varied very materially from those of past years, except at the centre of the town. Here the Grammar School has been unusually large. At the beginning of the school year in September, the first class in the Primary School was promoted. In the winter there was considerable diminution in the numbers of those connected with the primary department, as is true every winter term to a greater or less degree. About seventy scholars were in the grammar department, and about thirty in the primary. The question was brought before the committee whether the class that had been promoted in the fall should be ordered to descend to the Primary School. After due deliberation the committee decided to continue the schools as then organized, retaining two teachers in the grammar department, thinking that the depreciation in numbers among the younger members would continue but a single term.

HIGHER GRADE OF SCHOOLS.

The discussion in the previous topic leads, necessarily, to a repetition of the suggestion of last year. There is a desire among several of the families in different parts of the town, not connected with the schools at the Centre, to have their children attend school in this part of the town. If all were allowed to do so who wish, these schools would be overflowing. Sharon is the only town in this vicinity where there is no school of a higher grade than a Grammar School free for all. Such a school is needed by our children; an opportunity should be afforded them of fitting themselves for college, and other institutions of learning, if desired, as well as enabling them to receive an education which will compare favorably with that afforded by other towns. The establishment of a high-grade Grammar School, with a High School Department of study for those desiring it, is one of the needs of our town. We most cordially commend this proposition to the careful consideration of all friends of our public schools.

EXPENDITURES.

By reference to the financial report the expenditures of the committee will be readily seen. Uniting the balance remaining of last year with appropriations made at the annual meeting in April, 1875, the committee have exceeded the appropriation only in one respect. The well at the East School-house cost for digging and stoning, $105; the appropriation was $100, which shows but a slight expenditure above the sum designated. The cost of pump and platform, as well as the expense of grading about the East and the West School-houses, was charged to the appropriation raised for repairs. The committee have endeavored to limit their expenses within the appropriation, believing that such a course is in harmony with the wishes of those who determine by their votes the sums to be placed at their disposal. The expenses of the schools which are paid from the money appropriated for common schools, including salary of teachers, fuel, and care of school buildings, have varied but little from those of last year. The West School-house was repaired and painted as suggested in the report of last year. The well above referred to, at the East School-house, so unanimously ordered by vote of the citizens, has proved a great blessing to those who have enjoyed its use. We wonder now that this improvement was not made before, for it really seems an indispensable requisite.

The text-books have been purchased at wholesale cash prices, except when new books have been substituted by exchange, which has been done at introductory prices, at a discount from the whole-sale. The books have been in charge of the secretary of the committee, who has labelled, numbered, and delivered them as necessity demanded. All bills for expenditures have been approved by members of the committee and orders given by the secretary at their direction.

CHANGES IN TEXT-BOOKS.

As was recommended in our last report, a change was made in the text-books in Geography. "Our World No. 2," which failed to meet the wants of our scholars, and which, with the teachers' aid, was unable to hold the interest of the various classes, has given way to "Swinton's Complete Course," a book of very recent publication. The change was made at reduced prices, and the old books were given up in exchange, save copies left for reference in the various schools. We believe the improvement in this department of study in some of our schools has been enhanced by this change of books. Both teachers and pupils are doing better work than before.

The First Class in the Grammar School have been furnished with Monroe's Sixth Reader, this introduction being made only for this grade of pupils in this school. This class in this school is in advance of others in other schools in town, and this special introduction seemed to be a necessary demand.

An additional change seems desirable in the department of Orthography. Willson's Speller was introduced several years ago, when a corresponding series of Readers was adopted, but when the change of Readers was made three years since, the Speller was retained. Since that time a Speller corresponding to the present system of Readers has been published, and, should sufficient appropriation be made, we think the town would be well paid should a change be made. Something new is desirable in this direction.

FREE TEXT-BOOKS.

The plan adopted by the town three years ago of furnishing free text-books to the pupils has proved quite satisfactory. During this time the verdict of the teachers has been that the pupils were quite as careful in the use of books, under the present arrangement, as when the books were provided by the various families, while the invidious distinction seen in supplying a part of the children at public expense in consequence of poverty is entirely removed. Some of the books are worn, and have become so worthless during the past few months that, in some instances, new books have been required to a limited extent, especially among the lower numbers of the series. Others will be needed the present year, in some cases. This is due, in a great measure, to the manner in which this grade of books is bound. If the publishing houses would adopt a plan of durable binding for school-books a great saving would be made to those who are obliged to provide in this direction.

COURSE OF STUDY.

Hardly any changes have been made in the curriculum of the school-room. Drawing has its place beside other departments of study, but the progress in this has not been such as we could desire. Skill here seems to be slowly attained; pupils in some instances seem to approach the exercise with dread, and apparently are only too glad of an excuse from its pursuit. Teachers need especially to use every effort to interest those under their charge to prosecute thoroughly and carefully this department of study. Music has never had a place in our course of study; it is a department which is well worthy of support. Those schools where care and attention are given to this exercise always have an attraction; those teachers who are competent to lead, even though it be to a limited extent in this exercise, generally awaken new life in their schools. Some slight appropriation in this direction is worthy of thought.

INTEREST IN SCHOOLS.

We desire to suggest to the friends of our schools the worth of a manifest personal interest on the part of parents and guardians,—not that spirit which would teach rebellion to others, and countenance opposition to the just requirements of a teacher; not that fault-finding, carping, croaking spirit, which would seek to tear away the structure that other hands are building, and erect nothing in its stead; not that spirit which rejoices at failure, and only lays stumbling-blocks in the way of those who are laboring faithfully; not that spirit which never attracts one to the school-room, and only forms its opinion from hearsay, but that which brings willing feet to the place of instruction, and prompts kind words of encouragement to teachers; that which extinguishes in all, the flame of discord and anarchy.

More visits by those having children in their charge are needed at the school-room. Many never enter its doors during the entire school year, except at examinations, and often even the closing exercises of a school fail to attract many whose presence would cheer all. We were glad, however, to notice an improvement in this direction at the close of the winter term. Every school, at its closing session, was well represented by parents and friends. We trust it may be “the dawning of better days.”

IMPROVEMENTS AND APPROPRIATIONS.

If changes are made in the number of schools and course of study, as previously suggested, an increased appropriation will be needed. Our town takes a very low rank among the towns of the county in the amount of money raised by taxation for each individual scholar. Should these figures be raised to a favorable comparison with other towns, the sum would help quite materially towards the support of a school of an advanced grade. At all events, we trust that no diminution of the sum appropriated will be attempted, as it would shorten the school year, and we believe that nine months should be the minimum of the time designated for the training of the children in our public schools.

The East School-house needs painting, and that in the south part of the town will require shingling on a part or all of the roof during the year. About the Centre School-house the dirt is gradually washing away, so that a new filling about the underpinning will be needed to prevent the water from making its way into the cellar. Other repairs, as time and occasion shall demand, will be required. The usual sum for text-books and incidentals is also needed. We trust an appropriation sufficient to meet all necessary expenditures will be ordered by the town.

Presenting these suggestions to the careful consideration of the friends of our schools, trusting that they will receive at your hands generous remembrance and support, though the present condition of business may call for retrenchment in other directions, we offer brief report of our various schools and a careful statement of the expenditures made during the school year now closing.

SPECIFIC REPORT.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

MR. WILLARD ALDEN ESTEY, Principal.

MISS CARRIE A. POLLARD, Assistant.

The school opened in the spring with 55 scholars, with an average attendance of 50. In the fall term this number was increased to 67 by promotions from the primary department, with an average of 60. The winter term found the school numbering 70, with an average of 62. A request was made for increased accommodations, and extra seats were arranged upon the sides of the room to meet the demand.

Both these teachers have performed their labor to the acceptance of all. As will be seen, the school has constantly increased in numbers during the year, which is a very correct index of the hold it has upon its supporters. How much more encouraging than if the numbers had gradually dwindled away during this time, as is seen in some instances! Both principal and assistant are popular with their pupils, and labor faithfully in school and out to elevate the standard of scholarship. Their labor is appreciated. Evidently there are disadvantages in the present method of conducting this school. The recitation-rooms are too small for the use now required, while the confusion necessarily incident to the passing to and from the school-room checks the highest progress of both departments. There is a goodly number of pupils in this school deserving of a High School course. These, with others in town of similar attainments, should receive the opportunity now needed. Yet if the present arrangement is to be continued, we believe the school is in charge of those instructors who are laboring with the sympathies of those interested, receiving their cordial support, and prosecuting their work with a good degree of success. The average attendance for the year has been raised from 84 to 90 per cent.

During the year one of the members of this school whose name appears upon the roll of honor has been called away from the present and seen to the future and unseen. She was present every day during the spring term of school, but before the year had closed, called away. We pause to write the name of Hannah M. Vinal, to whose memory many hearts will love to cling.

PRIMARY SCHOOL.

MISS MARY L. YOUNG.

Eight years of almost uninterrupted labor have been faithfully performed in this school by this our Nestorian teacher. The attendance has varied quite materially during different terms, reaching its maximum of fifty-three scholars during the spring term, and its minimum of twenty-nine during the winter, the school, however, being larger during each of these terms than during the corresponding terms of last year. The average attendance of this school has gradually increased during the year, attaining to ninety-three per cent during the winter, which was reached by only one other school, and is an unusually high rank for the schools of our town. That degree of success which has characterized the work of the years past has been seen during the year now closing. Great care is exercised in little things, right habits of study are fixed, correctness of expression is inculcated by precept and example. The rudimental studies of the course are faithfully taught. During the winter term singing was introduced to some extent, and we trust this exercise may be continued. We regard this school as one of the most prosperous and interesting.

NORTH SCHOOL.

MISS CARRIE E. BULLARD.

MR. WILLIE A. JOHNSON.

This school was taught during the first term of the year by Miss Bullard, who had charge of the school during the first two terms of the previous year. The former good reputation of the teacher was well sustained. Recitations were prompt; care was given to the smaller members of the school, and the progress among these was quite marked; the average attendance was raised, showing an advance of twelve per cent over that of the corresponding term last year.

At the close of the spring term Miss Bullard resigned her position, and Mr. Johnson, who had had previous experience in this school, was appointed in her place, and continued with the school during the remainder of the year. Experience and age increased the ability of the teacher and added to his influence. The school gradually improved during the six months of his charge. The average attendance was better than last year, a marked change being observed in the fall term. The examination at the close of the year was of more than ordinary excellence, and by the fairness of its test bore witness to the work that had been done.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

MISS CARRIE A. HEWINS.

MISS ABBIE B. SCHOLES.

MISS JOSEPHINE P. HOLLAND.

This school has been somewhat unfortunate in its experience, caused by such constant change of teachers. Miss Hewins, who taught the school a part of last year, was reappointed at the beginning of the year and continued with the school during the spring term. The success attained last year was followed up, and the school prospered by the increased experience of the teacher.

At the close of this term Miss Hewins resigned her connection with the school. The committee, desirous of securing a teacher of experience, as desired by several, elected Miss Abbie B. Scholes, of West Mansfield, as successor. She brought to the school the acquired tact and skill of several years' labor in the school-room. The order was excellent, while a care for the general character of the school was an unusually prominent trait in this teacher. The attendance was greatly improved, the average reaching 93 per cent. Miss Scholes was reappointed at the close of the term, but resigned to take charge of a school in another town, with an increase of salary.

Miss Josephine P. Holland, of Foxboro', a teacher of some experience, was elected to fill the vacancy. During the term several scholars, not previously connected with the school, joined it, and in consequence of the irregularity thus occasioned the attendance was at a low per cent. No one was present every day during the term. Miss Holland labored conscientiously and carefully. She gained the kind respect of her pupils and brought this element of conscientious regard into the control of her school; she confined not her instructions to the text-books, but her pupils gathered many ideas from the general information she imparted.

EAST SCHOOL.

MISS MARY J. GANNETT.

For another year this school has been favored with the faithful and persistent labors of one who has so long gone in and out of the doors of this school-room. In years past our criticism upon the irregularity of the attendance of the pupils belonging to this school has been so constant as to be wellnigh stereotyped, but this year, with the exception of the spring term, we have been pleased to witness "better things." The average attendance increased sixteen per cent from the spring to the fall term, and the number of those not absent during the term rose from two to seven. Four per cent was added in the winter term to the average of that of the fall, and the number of those not absent was advanced from seven to thirteen. We refer to this fact particularly because the members of the school showed a determined purpose to redeem the reputation of their school. Such faithfulness merits and receives the thoughtful appreciation of the committee. This punctuality also manifested itself during the exercises of the daily sessions, while increased promptness and thoroughness exhibited themselves at the closing exercises of the winter term. Neatness and care in the department of penmanship deserve special reference. We believe the year now closed was the most successful, in every respect, of those during which this teacher has been employed.

WEST SCHOOL.

MISS S. AMELIA SWEET.

MR. WALTER N. SMITH.

Miss Sweet, who proved herself so abundantly capable of controlling this school and satisfying its many demands, had charge of it during the spring and the fall terms. The same tact, skill, and judgment which were a marked characteristic of former labors still exerted their influence and held their sway in the school-room. Universal approval was the verdict pronounced. The teacher closed the school and took final leave of scholars and parents with the plaudit "Well done!"

At the commencement of the winter term, Rev. Minot Hartwell was appointed teacher. He remained with the school a very few days, and resigned in consequence of ill health. Miss Ida C. Johnson was appointed to fill the vacancy. After continuing with the school about two weeks, the committee, feeling that the school was not in the condition desired in respect to order and general decorum, held a meeting and passed the following vote:—

"Voted, that Miss Ida C. Johnson, teacher at the West School, be allowed one week more of trial in the school under her charge for the purpose of improving the school and bringing the order up to a higher and satisfactory standard, and that she be requested to resign at that time if the school is not satisfactorily improved." This vote was announced to Miss Johnson without delay by the secretary, but before the week expired she had relinquished her school. Mrs. Ellen L. Moffatt was soon employed by the member of the committee connected with this school. She taught the school two and a half days and then declined further service. Mr. Walter N. Smith, of Walpole, was then elected teacher, and continued with the school two months, the remainder of the term.

Several scholars withdrew from the school, and the average attendance was low. Those who finally remained through the school and were interested in study made commendable progress. The order of the school improved. More care and neatness were manifest. At the examinations, the recitations were fully equal to the expectations of those present, and the school appeared better than was anticipated. In consequence of the changes experienced, the prescribed course of study has not been followed so carefully as desired. Correction in this direction will be needed another term.

In behalf of the committee,

SANFORD WATERS BILLINGS,

Secretary.

SHARON, March 14, 1876.

Voted, That the above report be accepted and adopted.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

FIRST YEAR.

Reading. — Word teaching from Webb's Reading Charts and blackboard; Monroe's First Reader.

Spelling. — Words in reading lessons, by sounds and letters.

Drawing. — Slate and blackboard; straight-lined figures; print small letters.

Language. Correct all errors; conversations on familiar objects.

Numbers. — Develop the idea of numbers by objects and the numeral frame; count to one hundred.

SECOND YEAR.

Reading. — Second Reader, to page 112. Insist on a clear enunciation.

Spelling. — Words from reading lessons; punctuation marks. Primary Speller to page 31.

Drawing. — Slate and blackboard; simple curves; print capitals and Arabic figures.

Writing. — Small script.

Language. — Correct all errors; conversations; verses and maxims.

Numbers. — Hagar's Primary Lessons, to page 35; Roman numerals to L.

THIRD YEAR.

Reading. — Second Reader finished, Third Reader to page 110; question on the meaning of what is read.

Spelling. — Words from reading lessons by sounds and letters; Primary Speller to page 50.

Drawing. — Slate and blackboard; the American Drawing Cards No. 1.

Writing. — Capitals and sentences on slate; 3d Term Eclectic Primary Copy Book, with pencil.

Language. — Correct all errors; conversations; recitations and select readings.

Numbers. — Primary Lessons, to page 78; exercises in combining numbers.

INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT.

FOURTH YEAR.

Reading. — Third Reader finished; Our World No. I; Child's Book of Nature, Part I.

Spelling. — Speller finished and dictation exercises.

Drawing. — Cards No. II, on slate; practice books.

Writing. — Eclectic Primary Copy Book with pencil.

Language. — Hart's First Lessons in Composition, to page 19; words selected and framed into sentences.

Numbers. — Primary Lessons finished; Elementary Arithmetic, to page 22; exercises in combining numbers.

Geography. — Our World No. I, to page 58.

FIFTH YEAR.

Reading. — Fourth Reader, to page 134; Our World No. I; Child's Book of Nature, Part II.

Spelling. — Speller and dictation exercises.

SCHOOL REGULATIONS.

MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

I. Stated meetings of the School Committee shall be held on the second Tuesday of every month, except July and August.

SCHOOL TERMS.

II. The school year shall be divided into three terms of twelve weeks each. The Fall Term shall begin on the Monday nearest the first day of September; the Winter Term shall begin on the second Monday after Thanksgiving; the Spring Term shall begin on the second Monday of April.

HOLIDAYS.

III. The following holidays shall be granted: The last day of County Agricultural Exhibition; Christmas Day; Washington's Birthday; Decoration Day; and the Seventeenth of June. Teachers attending the County and State Teachers' Association may close their schools for the purpose, on notifying the committee of such intention.

ABSENCE AND TARDINESS.

IV. In every case of absence or tardiness the teacher may require a satisfactory written excuse from the parent or guardian. Any scholar absent or tardy three times during a term, without a satisfactory excuse, shall be reported by the teacher to the committee.

DISMISSAL.

V. No pupil shall ordinarily be dismissed before the close of the session without a request from the parent or guardian. Permanent excuses for dismissal shall be granted only by vote of the School Committee.

TRUANCY.

VI. In every known case of truancy, teachers shall inform the parent in writing, and, if the evil be continued, shall endeavor to correct it by personal application to the parents. If this fail, they shall inform the committee.

TEXT-BOOKS.

VII. Teachers shall be held responsible for the proper care of books. At the close of each term they shall examine and report to the committee the actual condition of all books intrusted to their care.

Any scholar losing or materially injuring a book shall make good the damage at once.

EXAMINATIONS.

VIII. There shall be an examination of all the schools during the last two weeks of each term, and any scholars absenting themselves from these examinations shall be examined by the committee before they shall be allowed to rejoin the school.

PROMOTIONS.

IX. Promotions to a higher class shall be made, at the beginning of the Fall Term, of such scholars, and such only, as have passed satisfactory examinations.

TEACHERS VISITING SCHOOLS.

X. Teachers may visit other schools one day in each term to observe modes of discipline and instruction, if the care of their pupils has been provided for in a manner satisfactory to the committee.

ATTENDANCE IN OTHER TOWNS.

XI. No scholar shall be allowed to attend school out of town, at the expense of the town, unless by written consent of the School Committee.
